BEA WebLogic Platform 8.1 Provides Leading Deployment Platform for Siebel Universal Application Network Services from Sierra Atlantic

FREMONT, CA - August 4, 2003 - Sierra Atlantic, Inc., today announced that it uses the BEA WebLogic Enterprise Platform™ for its Siebel Universal Application Network (UAN) Center of Excellence, which specializes in integrating Siebel software with other software packages. Today's announcement supports the general availability of BEA WebLogic Platform 8.1™, a unified architecture that provides superior business integration through the convergence of application development and integration, from BEA Systems, Inc. (Nasdaq: BEAS), the world's leading application infrastructure software company.

Sierra Atlantic provides companies with the ability to integrate Siebel Software with their other enterprise software packages using Siebel's new UAN framework. Together, Sierra Atlantic and BEA can provide customers with a business process integration solution to dramatically reduce the long-term cost of integrating disparate applications.

"BEA WebLogic Integration 8.1 is the ideal integration platform for Siebel customers worldwide," said Raju Reddy, Sierra Atlantic CEO. "Our deep expertise in WebLogic Integration and Siebel are designed to give Siebel customers assurance that their business processes work seamlessly across their chosen applications, even as they upgrade over time."

"Sierra Atlantic's razor focus on enterprise application integration services with WebLogic Integration complements BEA's integration strategy perfectly," said Chet Kapoor, vice president and general manager, BEA WebLogic Integration, BEA. "We look forward to working together to help our common customers obtain faster time to value for their IT projects."
